LONE BOATMAN ESCAPES DEATH

Sam McPhee Returns as From the Dead—Gas Boat Spray, Believed Lost, Dashed on Rocks

FISHERMAN WANDERS TWO DAYS IN WOODS

Overcoat Used as Sail When Small Vessel Plunges Down Strait at Mercy of Sea and Storm

SAM McPhee, of Victoria, who was believed lost in the storm which raged down the coast last Monday night when the gasboat Spray met with engine trouble off William Head and drifted away before the gale, is safe. He arrived at his house here late yesterday afternoon from Sooke. The Spray is a total loss, having foundered when driven on the rocks at a point a short distance beyond Sooke Harbor.

At Mercy of Waves
After his companion, Mr. Stanley Peterson, left the boat Monday afternoon in a dinghy to seek aid from the city in order to repair the broken-down engine, the craft drifted helplessly in a heavy sea. He made every effort possible to start the engine but it would only turn over, splutter for a few seconds and then die. The heavy cable which held the anchor snapped and for a time the boat was at the mercy of big combers. Securing all the spare canvas on the boat, McPhee improvised a sea-anchor which kept the vessel from being blown about 2 o'clock in the morning, when she was driven against a half-sunken log and a large jagged rock was stove in her hull. She commenced to fill and the rush of water was only stopped when she rammed a mattress into the breach.

"Every minute I expected to see one of the huge waves dash over the craft and put her under for good," Mr. McPhee said last night. "She was half-full of water and was so heavy in consequence that she would hardly lift over the crest of the waves. After drifting like this for several hours in the teeth of the storm, which suddenly struck something which I thought was a log, I was thrown on the deck miraculously managed to save myself from being washed overboard."

Uses Overcoat as Sail
"Joining down below I discovered that a gaping hole had been torn in the side of the boat and was rapidly entering. Grasping a mattress from one of the bunks, I stuffed it into the hole and stopped the rush of water. Every moment I thought the boat would founder but she held up wonderfully and when dawn came I rigged a sail out of my overcoat in an effort to keep her off the reef. The gale was so strong that I was never able to get ashore but I managed to keep her from being blown about five miles the other side of Sooke Harbor."

"The first big wave rushed over her deck and swept me clear. I don't know how I got ashore but I managed to get ashore by my hands and feet. My hands and feet were cut on the barnacle-covered rocks and I swallowed a lot of sea water."

"After resting for a short time I started out to find shelter of some sort but failed to strike either ranch or house. Without anything to eat, I wandered about in the cover of ground all of Tuesday and Wednesday morning until daylight when I found myself back close to the wrecked boat. Then one of the fishing boats of the Sooke Fishing and Packing Company came around to lift one of the nets and I staggered to the shore and hailed her."

"The craft came over and picked me up and I was given dry clothes, food and then put into one of the bunks. I slept heavily until 2 o'clock, waking up with a terrific pain in my right hand which I found had been cut to the bone in several places. The man on board doctor my injured hands and legs and then landed me at the cannery. I caught the first bus to town, getting back at 4:30 p.m."

One of the first things that Mr. McPhee told The Colonist last night was the splendid way in which the men from the Sooke Fishing and Packing Company treated him. They took off some of their own clothes and gave him a blanket.

PEKING OFFERS OLIVE BRANCH

Efforts to Arrange Peace Between Warring Generals Made by Leaders of Central Government

DEPOSED COMMANDER FAVORS FIGHTING FIRST

Former Premier Shao-Tseng Takes Hand in Negotiations and Approaches Christian General

PEKING, Oct. 29.—Efforts to arrange a peaceful understanding between General Wu Pei-fu, deposed military head of the Peking government and General Feng Yu-hsiang, the "Christian general," were reported being made today by friends of General Wu, but the prospect of success was considered doubtful.

President Tsao Kun was said to have sent word to General Wu that General Feng, who deposed Wu while directing a unit of the Peking army, that the "Christian general" wanted to talk, not to fight. General Wu replied that he was willing to talk peace after he had resumed control of affairs at Peking.

Former Premier Chang Shao-Tseng took a hand in the negotiations for peace when he came here from Tientsin and made peace suggestions to the "Christian general," as a representative of the adherents of General Shao.

Mukden troops have occupied Lanchow, after surrounding a large force of Chihli forces. The remaining Chihli, retreating, took up fresh positions on the Lusi Canal.

VICTORIA ELATED BY VOTE RESULT

CROWDS WATCH PROGRESS ON BULLETIN BOARD

Defeat of Labor Government Will Have Satisfying Effect, Says Lieutenant-Governor

Apparent defeat of the Ramsay MacDonald government and the spectacular return of Conservative strength in the Old Country election provided welcome news to Victorians yesterday.

Gauged by the crowds which withstood the stormy weather to watch the bulletin returns and the number of telephone inquiries to The Colonist, local interest was more intense than in any previous British political contest.

Lieutenant-Governor Walter C. Nichol was one of those who expressed satisfaction at the result. "I am very much pleased that the English people have returned to a sane and balanced outlook in politics," he told The Colonist. "The result of the election will have a tremendous stabilizing influence on domestic affairs and an incalculable effect on the affairs of the world at large."

"The news is very gratifying but not particularly surprising," said Mr. H. H. Poley, leader of the Conservative party in British Columbia. "It is a plain expression of a desire on the part of the majority of the people of Great Britain to get back to the basis of stability and normalcy that is characteristic of Conservative administrations. I believe you will see that the rise of Conservatism overseas has its counterpart in a similar movement in Canada. The Dominion needs stability as urgently as does Great Britain, and I am confident that when the electors of Canada are given an opportunity, their decision will be as decisive as that given by the voters of the Old Country yesterday."

Canada to Benefit From Return of Mr. Baldwin to Power

IMPERIAL preference, with its accompaniment of better marketing conditions for the products of Canadian industry in the British Isles, will be one of the fruits of a Conservative victory in the Old Country and the return to the premiership of Mr. Stanley Baldwin, who came out strongly during the election campaign for Imperial preference.

In this regard Canada will be most interested in the offer of preference on raw apples, canned fish, honey, tobacco and sugar. Under the offer, foreign raw apples were to be dutiable in the British market at five shillings per hundredweight, while Empire apples were to be free; canned salmon and canned lobster were to be free from the Empire and dutiable at ten shillings per hundredweight from foreign countries; the same rates were to apply to honey; on tobacco, the present preference was to be increased from one-sixth to one-quarter; on sugar, a guarantee was offered that if the duty was reduced the preference would not fall with it for a period of ten years.

The offer of the Baldwin government was contingent on approval by the British House of Commons. A general election intervened, however, and the Baldwin government was defeated at the polls.

Mr. Baldwin succeeded the late Mr. Bonar Law as Prime Minister in 1923. His private business training and his experience as financial secretary to the treasury in 1917-21, as president of the Board of Trade during the two following years, and finally as Chancellor of the Exchequer had equipped him admirably for the task confronting him.

His membership in Parliament dates from 1908, when he was first elected a Unionist member for the Bewdley division of Worcestershire. He is fifty-six years old, received his education at Harrow and Cambridge, was married in 1892 and has two sons and four daughters.

EXPLOSION ON C.P.R. KILLS EIGHT

KETTLE VALLEY LINE SCENE OF FRIGHTFUL ACCIDENT
Passenger Car Completely Wrecked and Debris Taken Five-Twelve Passengers Injured

NELSON, Oct. 29.—Eight dead; J. L. Mackie, M.P.P.-elect for Grand Forks; Peter Vergein, head of Doukhobors; Harry Bishop, travel agent for Swift Canadian Co.; Nelson; three unidentified men and two unidentified women, is now the toll of the exploding and burning day coach on the Kettle Valley Railway, west of Farmon, Harry Bishop, Nelson sportsman, and traveler for the local branch of the Doukhobors, were among the victims. Three are still awaiting identification in the morgue. Dr. H. H. McKendrick, local coroner, awaiting the return of Sgt. E. Gammon from Brilliant, B.C., tonight before permitting inspection of the bodies.

Two men and one woman, the woman and one man being Doukhobors, it is reported, were among the victims. Peter Vergein, president of the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, the Doukhobor organization, was brought to Farmon to Brilliant this afternoon by a chartered special train. The body of John Mackie, M.P.P.-elect for Grand Forks-Greenwood, is being taken to Grand Forks. Dr. C. M. Kingston, district coroner, being in charge there.

High Explosives Suspected
High explosives carried in the coach is now the certain cause of the disaster, the gas tank, at first officially reported to the C.P.R. as the cause, being found intact, and, with the truck and metal frame, the sole residue of the coach. Some years ago the C.P.R. had difficulty with Doukhobors found to be conveying dynamite in passenger coaches in gunny sacks, and something of this nature is now the accepted theory.

Peter Vergein, however, had many enemies among the fanatics, who wanted him to discard modern appliances, and in some circles it is stated that a time bomb was used to get rid of him. A great hole was opened in his side by the explosion. Those brought to Nelson were the most seriously injured, and those

OLD RUSSIAN REGIME GIVES PLACE TO NEW

Last Representative in Paris of Charles Bagdasarian Embassy for Soviet Ambassador
PARIS, Oct. 29.—Basil Maklakhof, last representative in France of the old Russian regime, today began, on receipt of news of the recognition by France of the Soviet Russian Government, to make arrangements to vacate the old Russian Embassy in the Rue de Grenelle.

The presence in Paris of a sort of unofficial embassy representing the old Russian regime, is one of the questions likely to come up when the representatives of the Soviet Russian and French Governments begin their negotiations. Meantime, M. Maklakhof and his collaborators are arranging for other quarters where they will continue their work.

REVISE CRYSTAL GARDEN TENDERS

SPECIFICATIONS MODIFIED BECAUSE OF HIGH PRICES

Company Calls for Revised Tenders From Contractors—No Alterations in General Plans

The seven local firms who submitted tenders for the construction of the Crystal Garden will be asked to tender revised bids before noon on November 5. Mr. Basil Gardom, superintendent of construction Western hotels, Canadian Pacific Railway, stated last night.

Although the specifications which the architects will submit to the contractors have been modified, no alteration has been made in the general plans, Mr. Gardom said.

"On account of prices being higher than was anticipated," said Mr. Gardom, "the architects will send forward amended specifications to all those contractors who put in a previous bid on October 25. We have invited them to submit their revised tenders at the office of Messrs. Rattenbury & Jones, the architects, before noon next Wednesday."

A representative of an Eastern firm which has put in a bid on the glass work and steel superstructure will confer with Mr. Gardom this morning. After the conference Mr. Gardom will depart for Vancouver where he is supervising the construction of the new wing to the Canadian Pacific hotel at Lake Louise. He will return to the city next Wednesday morning, so that no time will be lost in opening and considering the revised bids from the contractors.

No effort will be spared to get the construction of the Crystal Garden under way as soon as possible. The company's agreement with the city calls for the building to be completed before December 1. It is anticipated that the structure will be built and in operation by May 24 next year.

STEEL SAWS FOUND ON EXECUTED MAN

Examination of Footwear of Montreal Bandit Revealed Hidden Tools to Aid in Escape

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—When Giuseppe Serafini, youngest of the four executed Hochelaga bank bandits hanged here last Friday, walked to the scaffold, he carried in the sole of his left shoe three slender steel saws. This was brought to light when the Italian's footwear was examined after his body had been cut down. Although the origin of the saws has not yet been ascertained, it is thought that before long the person who passed them to the condemned man will be exposed.

Serafini was the man who, in some unexplained manner, escaped from his death cell and reached the prison yard before being caught.

He said he had intended to purchase two car loads for the police of Canton, China, if they proved satisfactory. He was held without bail.

Conservatives Have Working Majority in House of Commons With Almost Half of Constituencies Reported

INDUSTRIAL CENTRES LEAD SWING TO TORIES

Liberals Lost All Along Line, Manchester and Liverpool Notably Assisting in the Landslide

LONDON, Oct. 30.—The Conservative Party appeared headed toward early return to power, with a working majority over all the others, when at 2:30 o'clock this morning, almost half the constituencies in Britain had reported their votes cast in yesterday's election for the new parliament.

At that hour Conservatives had 146 seats as against 103 combined seats of all other parties.

Of these Laborites had won 72, and the Liberals only 22. The various other groups accounted for the remaining 9.

The heaviest swing to the Conservative side in the early returns came from the industrial North and the Midlands. The Conservatives captured seven of the ten Manchester seats, only one of which they occupied in the last parliament. They scored further triumphs in Newcastle, Northampton, Nottingham and other great manufacturing centres in London and its suburbs.

Labor Majority Lessened
The party made still further gains in many places, and where the Laborites held seats in some constituencies, they did so with decreased majorities, while the trend back to Toryism was marked with heavier majorities than heretofore in constituencies that almost always elected Conservatives.

The Liberals lost all along the line. Manchester and Liverpool turned strong from them to the Conservative fold, while Laborites ousted other Liberals. Herbert H. Asquith, indeed, the defeat of Miss Margaret Lloyd, fielded removal from parliament a notable figure. She was the first woman to be appointed to a ministerial position in the British government, acting as Parliamentary Secretary for the Ministry of Labor since her election in 1923. She was chairman of the Trades Union Congress, and also had the distinction of being the first woman to hold that important position in the British industrial world.

As the hours passed the Labor gains became more frequent.

The general belief is that it will have to do much better in the later stages of the election, but during the night, to prevent an outright Conservative majority.

The luck of elections seemed to be running generally against the Laborites, just as a year ago it went against them in favor of the Labor Party. In threatened fights, where the top man can win with a minority vote.

At this hour when almost 7,000,000 votes had been counted, Labor had polled only about 750,000 less ballots than the Conservatives, while the Liberals, who, last year polled about as many as the Laborites, were far behind. The tabulations of 4,887,161 votes gave the Conservatives 5,115,103; Labor, 2,468,785; Liberals, 1,085,047; the Constitutionalists, 39,109; Independents, 51,051; the Co-operatives, 44,592; and the Communists, 65,735.

HUNGARY ANXIOUS TO CHECK RED COUNTESS

Minister to U.S. Called Home to Explain Failure to Keep Reformed Aristocrat Out

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—Count Lazlo Szechenyi, Hungarian minister in the United States, has been called to Budapest to explain why he failed in efforts to bar from this country Countess Karolyi from England a year ago.

In her first speech in this country Countess Karolyi explained her reasons for leaving the aristocratic class. She said the members of this class had refused to sacrifice their egotism for the welfare of the Hungarian Republic and that they had no sympathy for the common classes without whose aid a democratic government could not be established.

The aristocrat of Hungary, she said, lived a life of luxury, of egotistical pleasure and poor thought. She said she was equally opposed to Bolshevism and monarchism.

VEREGIN'S DEATH MAY END SCHEME

LOSS OF LEADER LIKELY TO DISBAND DOUKHOBORS

Organization's Head, Victim of Explosion on Kettle Valley Line, Was Remarkable Man

SASKATOON, Oct. 29.—With the death of Peter Veregin in the C.P.R. explosion today, who was looked upon by a large proportion of the Universal Community of Christian Brotherhood, the breakup of one of the greatest communistic organizations in the world is forecast here. Under the leadership of Veregin, seven thousand Doukhobors have been banded in the Veregin, Sask., and the brilliant, B.C. districts and since coming to Canada early in the twentieth century, their possessions have grown from nothing until at present the community is rated to be worth millions. Industries operated are a jam factory, lumber mill, brickyard and thousands of acres of fruit and wheat farms.

Born in Caucasasia

Peter Veregin was born in Trans-Caucasia in 1850. As early as 1884 he was leading Doukhobors in rebellion against military service, with the result that he was exiled to Siberia. From his home there in Tobolsk, he directed their policy, counselled and advised them, maintaining communication with the Doukhobor community by means of trusted messengers who traveled in sleighs 2,000 miles to reach their leader.

From his place of exile Veregin advised and by his personal appeal to the dowager Empress Alexandra, ultimately secured the permission of the Czar for the Doukhobors to emigrate to Saskatchewan. Later he was permitted to leave Siberia before the expiration of his term and in 1903 he joined his colony in Saskatchewan, where he had 5,000 people on his hands. There were difficulties with the government, the climate was unsatisfactory and in 1910 about 5,000 of the settlement emigrated to British Columbia, where they settled in the mountains and took up their community life in a district which they thought more favorable for commercial development.

Doukhobor Investigation

In 1912 the Province of British Columbia appointed a royal commission to report on matters relating to the "sect of Doukhobors" and the report reviews in some detail the history of the sect in Russia and Canada. "The figure of Peter Veregin," the report said, "stands majestic and all powerful. The community affairs are in the hands of a man who is well equipped to handle them, who has achieved the most remarkable results; who is indeed a father to his people, teaching, guiding and encouraging them."

The report declared that Veregin first arrived in Canada his dream "was that of a gentleman of means and good taste and he had six or seven different enterprises. He drove in state from village to village, accompanied by a band of followers, and in his travels from place to place was invariably accompanied by a number of young women."

There was criticism and such display was declared inconsistent, and the equipment and state were abandoned and a new house erected to have cost $75,000 was never used. "Then," it is said, "the old straw hat, the rough clothing and trousers bound at the leg bottoms with binder twine were once more affected."

EXPORTS TO BRITAIN MAKE BIG INCREASE

Canadian Butter and Canned Salmon Are the Principal Items in Dominion Report

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—In the trade figures just issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, notable advances in the exportation to Great Britain of Canadian butter and canned salmon are shown.

During the past 12 months, 9,169,907 pounds of butter has gone to Great Britain as compared with 5,792,248 pounds during the preceding 12 months. In the 12 months ended September, canned salmon valued at $4,461,128 went to Great Britain, while during the same period last year the salmon shipments were valued at slightly more than two million dollars.

Trade winds were so-called because of their assistance to trade in the days of sailing vessels.

GRAND JURY SLATES DETECTIVE SERVICE

B.C. CIVIC AND R.C.M.P. SLEUTHS ARE CONDEMNED

Calls Attention to Long List of Unpunished Crimes in Vancouver and Recommends Change

VANCOUVER, Oct. 29.—That the whole detective system of both the Vancouver and Provincial police and the secret service branch of the R.C.M.P. was wrong and badly in need of reorganization, was the conclusion of a grand jury in a report of its work presented in court this morning.

Supporting this conclusion, the grand jury cited as cases which the police had failed to solve the death of William Bailey, South Vancouver bank clerk, supposed to have been murdered, of Janet K. Smith, housemaid, found shot in a Shaughnessy Heights home; of David Lew, killed in Chinatown, whose murderer has not been caught; the City Hall payroll robbery, the Capitol Theatre robbery, and other crimes.

Deplores Open Hobbery

The grand jury deplored the open robbery of banks in Vancouver in broad daylight in which no arrests have ever been made.

It also commented upon the poor identification by police and police witnesses of accused persons in court. The report stated that if the appointment of a Crown prosecutor is a political choice it is a weak link in the system of justice.

Touching upon the drug traffic, the grand jury advocated an institution for the care of addicts and the appointment of an official competent to organize the warfare against the dope traffic.

On the question of illicit liquor selling and the traffic in narcotics, the grand jury had this to say: "The real carrying out in our city of the Government Liquor Act, with the effective suppression of illicit dealings, has always been an open disgrace to our law-abiding qualities and our general respect for the enforcement of all statutes."

Drug Peddling Not on Wane

Oddities in the News

City Hall Wars Over Mirror—Perhaps an Ursus Kermodei—Bobbed Winters Explained—Wife-Beating Defended

Many a fierce forensic battle has been fought in the Council Chamber but none has ever equalled in bitterness the mirror wars in the treasury department.

The combatants are two sedate gentlemen of the department and two demure stenographers. The male allies concur in the belief that the girls should not dabble at their pretty little noses with powder puffs and tuck stray strands of their bobbed hair into a pleasing symmetry within penning distance, so to speak, of their very desks. It is, unobviously, scandalous, shocking, they believe.

So the other evening after work they pushed the offending mirror down and cast the thing aside. Next morning the girls retrieved it and hung it up on the wall again. In the afternoon it was cast down and again it was set up in place. Angry words were spoken. Yesterday the elder of the two sedate gentlemen appealed to the Mayor.

Mayor Hayward came gallantly to the aid of the girls. He ordered the mirror to be left undisturbed and admonished the elder sedate gentleman not to be concerned with such trivial things. If the mirror is found in its proper place this morning the City Hall staff will conclude that the war is over, that modernism has triumphed in its clash with mid-Victorianism.

OTTAWA.—Here's the reason for the modern "bobbed" Winter. It is found tucked away in the back pages of a blue book. Canada is exporting her Winter to the United States, shipping it out in carloads. It doesn't all stay there. Some of it gets back, but Canada exports more than she imports.

This Dominion has a balance of trade against the United States in ice—the quintessence of Winter. In the five months ended August 31 last Canada's ice exports to the United States were valued at $64,000—probably the glazziest top of an entire lake—while the United States sent to Canada in the same period ice to the value of $15,436.

BUDAPEST.—"A wife must be beaten else she gets rusty." That is the definition of "gypsy love" given by Mohan Staley, "King" of gypsy musicians here, charged with beating his wife.

But his wife swore: "Never has he beaten me, only sometimes beat time on by back with drumsticks."

The Judge, however, sentenced Staley to one year in prison. The prosecutor had Mrs. Staley arrested on a charge of perjury. "Jealous," she said, "for the prosecution as she was led away. 'What business is it of yours if my husband loves me in his own way?'"

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble Caused by Fermentation of Food and Acid Indigestion

Acid and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by vertigo, stomach ulcers, food fermenting and sour, creating the disagreeable gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the entire system.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat it with ordinary laxatives which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach. Magnesia is the only remedy that neutralizes the excess acid and prevents the formation of gas and there is no nausea or pain. Dissolved Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who suffer their meals with no more of indigestion. (Adv.)

Mount Logan May Fall To Foreign Alpinists

Canadian Expedition to Conquer "Everest of Rockies" Urged by Dr. Hickson, President of Alpine Club of Canada—Public Support for Project Sought—Funds Insufficient at Present to Finance Climbers—Peak Is Highest Unscaled in North America

THE possibility of Canada having to concede to some other country the honor of climbing out the expedition which makes the first ascent of Mount Logan, the highest peak in the whole of the Dominion, is hinted in a letter which the president of the Alpine Club of Canada, Dr. J. W. A. Hickson, has written from Montreal under recent date. Some eighteen months or two years ago the Alpine Club of Canada first proposed the scheme whereby the expedition should be sent to explore this "Mount Everest of the Rockies," but although subscriptions toward the enterprise were invited, little more than half the required funds have been donated. The expedition was intended to start out next year and Mr. Hickson's letter is written with a view to stimulating public spirit and public support before the whole plan is wrecked for lack of funds, leaving the enterprise to the rival countries who are only too eager to send expeditions in the same quest.

It is probable that parties from other countries will soon be in the field to capture the Mount Everest of Canada should the expedition be unable to go forward next year," writes Dr. Hickson. He once more gives some description of the history of the undertaking to date.

"The expedition to explore and attempt the ascent of Mount Logan, 19,850 feet in altitude, the highest peak in Canadian territory, and the highest unclimbed peak of the North American Continent, is now being actively organized under the auspices of the Alpine Club of Canada," writes Dr. Hickson. "The selection of the personnel, which is to consist of six climbers and the necessary porters, without Swiss or other professional guides, is almost completed, and it is hoped that there will be sufficient funds in hand before the end of next month to permit of supplies and other equipment being purchased and sent forward by dog teams over the glaciers during the winter. Food will thus be cached at convenient places along the route, and so the advance of the climbing party, which should start from Seattle next May, will be facilitated."

A reconnaissance of the mountain made last June by one of the leaders of the expedition—Mr. A. H. MacCarthy, a member of the Canadian Alpine Club—confirms the view that this will be an ascent of the first class, worthy of the greatest skill and endurance. No one on foot has as yet been nearer to the summit of Mt. Logan than eighteen miles in a direct line. The Dominion Government has recognized the importance of the expedition by giving the services of Mr. H. F. Lambert and an assistant Mr. Lambert, who is to be the second leader, has long been connected with the Geological Survey of Canada, and has had much experience of glacier work.

What is gained
"Some people will ask, as they did in connection with the Mount Everest expedition, and especially after the deaths of Mallory and Irvine, just as was asked previously after the death of Scott in the Antarctic, 'Cul bono? What's the use?' Explorers and mountaineers are prone to show impatience at such questions today, and even those who are not mountaineers can appreciate the moral uses of such enterprises, for they show in the midst of much that is enervating in modern civilization, that men of British race have not altogether gone "to the flesh pots and effeminacy." Men like Scott and Mallory shine as examples of the ennobling effect of the vast places and lofty peaks of the earth and of the struggle with the inanimate forces of nature.

"To find out something about the unexplored parts of our world appeals strongly to the imagination of civilized man, and the result may, and generally has, been of some practical use. But putting aside the utilitarian aspects of the quest, a peak like Everest or Logan always stands as a challenge to the physical and moral powers of man. It cannot be left unattempted any more than the two poles of our globe can be left unexplored. To search for something new, to conquer, to accomplish something more than has previously been achieved, is what has helped to raise man above the other animals. The highest spot in Canadian territory is surely a prize worthy of the best efforts of Canadians, and it is most fitting that it should be won by the Alpine Club, which has aimed at upholding the best traditions of the mountaineering world, and now plans to add another victory over the guarded things of earth. Should the expedition, owing to the lack of monetary support, (and a little more than one-half of the required funds, namely, twelve thousand dollars, is in sight) be unable to go forward next year, it is probably that parties from other countries will soon be in the field to capture the Mount Everest of Canada."

ENGINEER TO REPORT ON ELECTRIC ENERGY

Duncan Employs Expert in Effort to Find Most Practical Method of Augmenting Power

DUNCAN, Oct. 29.—A special meeting of the city council was held last evening for the purpose of receiving a report of Alderman Duncan, chairman of the power and light committee.

The committee advised that Mr. A. C. R. Yull, of Vancouver, be asked to submit a report by November 24 next on the most practical method of augmenting the city's present supply of electrical energy.

Mr. Yull, who was present at the meeting, is an experienced engineer, specializing in electrical and hydro-electrical developments, and has been employed in the past by a number of the municipalities in the province in an advisory capacity.

The report of the committee was adopted.

For Beauty You Fail to Get

By Edna Wallace Hopper

I am not a cosmetic maker, not a beauty expert. My work is on the stage and screen. But I have had advantages which most girls and women lack. I found myself a beautiful woman, a woman who had a rich, ambitious mother who took me in a world, search for the utmost in beauty helps. Then when I became a famous beauty, every great scientist who made a discovery sent it on to me.

Now I wish all girls and women to share that good fortune with me. I found myself a beautiful woman, a woman who had a rich, ambitious mother who took me in a world, search for the utmost in beauty helps. Then when I became a famous beauty, every great scientist who made a discovery sent it on to me.

So I am placing these helps, which I spent a lifetime in finding, at every woman's call. All druggists and toilet counters now supply them, but with each comes a guarantee. I instruct every dealer to return the money to anyone disappointed, and charge the amount to me.

My marvelous complexion is largely due to a super-cream. It combines the products of both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that modern science knows to foster, feed and protect the skin. I use it as a night cream, also daytime cream.

Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream is now supplied by the Owl Drug Co. Write me for my Beauty Book and I'll send with it something else to please you. Edna Wallace Hopper, 545 Lake Shore Drive, Chicago.

A Fuel Saving Secret

This is a message to conscientious housewives, and a piece of advice to all.

The shortage and high price of cooking fuel has brought to light many things which might never have been known otherwise. Here is one thing, for instance. Did you know that good enameled ware cooking utensils heat more quickly than utensils made of metal, such as copper, brass or aluminum? It's true. Try it!

Take a good grade of enameled ware saucepan, and a similar sized saucepan made of copper, aluminum or brass. Put two quarts of cold water into each. Set them on the fire and time them—see how long it takes each to boil. Over a moderate heat, water in the enameled ware saucepan will boil in approximately ten minutes. But the water in the all-metal saucepan, with the same heat will take approximately eighteen minutes—almost double the time—to come to the boil!

Think of the wasted heat and the amount of wasted money it must represent! Just figure what this would run into in a year!

Use enameled ware utensils for cooking and save heat and money. Don't purchase cheap, flimsy enameled ware. Get the best, either Diamond Ware, which is sky blue and white outside with a snowy-white lining, or Pearl Ware, which is a beautiful pearly grey and white mottle inside and out. Another, enameled ware of really super qualities is snow-white outside and inside with deep blue trimmings. It is called Crystal Ware and is now used in many of Canada's finest homes.

All three of these wares carry a green and red shield shape SMP trade mark on every utensil. Don't buy enameled ware unless it carries one of these trade marks. You can buy SMP Crystal Ware, Diamond Ware or Pearl Ware at any hardware store. Don't accept substitutes.

A CONSERVATIVE VICTORY

So far as early returns can be estimated the British electors have decisively defeated the Labor Government and the indications are that the Conservatives will have a clear majority over all the other parties in the House of Commons when the final result is known. The election returns, incomplete as they are at the time of writing, show that the Conservative gains over the Liberal and Labour. In constituencies previously held by the supporters of Mr. Baldwin, and seemingly in the great majority of them, the Conservative majorities have been handsomely increased. The Liberals have suffered heavy losses and the possibility is that they will not have more than from 60 to 70 members in the new House of Commons. Any estimate of Labor's final representation at this time is difficult. There are still many Scottish and Welsh constituencies to be heard from which will increase the Labor quota, but it is obvious now that the party which has held the reins of Government for the past nine months will have a decreased representation in the next House of Commons.

The issues which have caused Labor to suffer what can hardly be regarded as other than a decisive defeat were numerous. That which played the most vigorous part in the campaign was the attitude of the Government towards the Soviet power. The British people evidently do not wish officially to have truck or trade with Bolshevism. They certainly do not wish to give the propagandists of world revolution a loan for which there could be no guarantee of repayment, and but slender guarantees respecting the way in which the money could be expended. Another issue in the British campaign was that of Constitutionalism versus Socialism. The Labor Government promised, and promised in an elaborate programme, that if elected to power it would begin its experiments in nationalization and would do so irrespective of what the cost would be. The British people have proved themselves unwilling to give Labor a blank cheque. Yet another issue was the Wheatley housing scheme, a scheme which is imposing a debt on the country for the next 50 years. It never was in popular favor, and now, no doubt, will be very much amended so as to restrict the commitments that it involves.

The foreign policy of the Labor Government cut little or no figure in the campaign. Mr. MacDonald in this respect did no more than either a Conservative or Liberal Government would have done under the circumstances. What did play a part, however, was the attitude of Britain towards the Dominions and the Empire as a whole. Mr. MacDonald, by sacrificing the preference proposals, abandoning the Singapore naval base, and omitting to consult the Overseas Dominions in the matter of the Russian pact, undoubtedly alienated a very substantial body of public opinion in Britain from his Government. He entered the campaign with enthusiasm and made no secret of his belief throughout its course that his Government would be sustained in power. He has proved a poor political prophet because he failed to estimate the strength of public opinion and what that opinion was prepared to tolerate in the way of experimental policies. Britain has been passing through a period of unrest during the past nine months. In some respects industrial stability has been undermined. The people have voted for the maintenance of what they know, rather than give anyone a mandate to engage in doubtful undertakings.

One incident of the election that should be a matter of regret to all parties is the personal defeat of Mr. H. H. Asquith, one of the oldest parliamentarians in Britain, a former Prime Minister and the present leader of the Liberal party. His defeat probably means his withdrawal from public life. Mr. Asquith has been an asset to his country whether in power or in opposition. It is perhaps the irony of fate that he should have gone down to defeat as a time when the fortunes of his party are at a low ebb. He proved himself during the past few years unable to stem the tide of opposition to Liberalism and he implemented the downhill pace of that party by his unwritten alliance with Labor which enabled Mr. MacDonald to take office. It was a tactical as well as a political blunder as events have proved, and the Liberals are the worst sufferers. It is wholly unlikely now that those Liberals who have been elected will in future turn to their fortunes with the Labor Party. That practice has cost them too dearly, and as yesterday's election proved conclusively, it is resented by their followers throughout the country, a very large percentage of whom must have voted with the Conservatives.

Under the regime that will replace the Labor Government Britain will, in every probability, secure what has been wanting, namely, security in the matter of legislation and in foreign relations to enable her to carry on and play her part adequately in the era of reconstruction. The appeal to the country to put an end to minority government appears to have been answered conclusively. It was Labor's appeal as well as the appeal of the Conservatives. The latter have won after Britain has had an experiment with Labor in office. On the early returns, and with every prospect of the Conservatives having a substantial majority over all other parties when the final returns are known, there is no reason to doubt what the complexion of the next Government will be. Mr. Baldwin was only displaced from office for a brief period. The people of Britain are obviously, emphatically, willing that he should again take up the duties of government.

TRAGIC ACCIDENT

The sudden and tragic death of Mr. J. L. McKie, the Conservative member-elect for the Legislature for the Grand Forks—Greenwood riding will be learned of with the deepest regret throughout British Columbia. He was the victim of what seems a somewhat inexplicable accident on the Kettle Valley Railway, in which also Mr. Peter Veregin, the leader of the Doukhobor Community in Canada was also a victim, as well as four others. Mr. McKie was a very popular resident of his district. He had secured legislative honors for the first time in the last election, and, no doubt, was eagerly looking forward to the trip to Victoria for the session. He has been suddenly cut off on the eve of the opening of the Legislature. In the tragic character of the circumstances all his colleagues that were to be and the people of the Province as a whole will extend their deepest sympathy to his widow.

The death of Mr. Peter Veregin removes a figure who has been responsible through his influence for the holding together of the Doukhobor colony in Canada. Perhaps he was responsible, too, for the remarkable industry shown by those settlers. The Doukhobors created some trouble for more than one government in the Dominion by their antipathy to some of the customs and laws of the country, but beyond their eccentricities in those particulars they were law-abiding and contributed their full share in the way of development. Mr. Peter Veregin was a notable figure in the role which he occupied. He was a diplomat in many respects, a man of vision and of considerable business ability. He, also, was a man of his word. To the Doukhobors his loss is one that will prove irreplaceable. It may mean the disruption of the community effort in which they are engaged. His death, too, will make it more difficult for the British Columbia Government to convey its wishes and intentions to the members of that colony.

An American viewpoint of the League of Nations is furnished by The Chicago Tribune, which says: "It is in Downing Street and the Quai d'Orsay that British and French policy is determined, not by the gentlemen who speak or seem to speak for Britain and France at Geneva. It is not the beautiful rhetoric with which the League of Nations was ushered in and was advertised to Americans that gives key to the doings of the League, but the very same motives and methods which expressed the clash of interests, fears, hates and ambitions of the governments in their relations before the League was born or conceived. No covenant hocus pocus can transform the realities of European politics. Setting the same men or the agents of the same men about a table and calling them a League of Nations does not transmute their substance from clay to alabaster. The proceedings within the League conform to the interests of the governments represented, as may be seen clearly in the alignment on the immigration issue."

Russia is always pointed to as a country of immense resources. Those resources have been developed for centuries. Despite this the Soviet Government does not appear to have any credit. It cannot float a loan in Russia with any prospects of success. It cannot give good security to private investors. Lord Haldane, one of Britain's Labor Ministers, says that in order to give good security the foundations of government must be sound. The Bolshevik Government is not sound, for otherwise it would not be driven to seek a loan in Britain simply because it has no credit at home. To the business-like way there is no security whatever for a loan made to the Soviet Government.

Washington reports that during the first six months of the present year there has been a large decrease in the exports of agricultural machinery and implements from the United States to Canada, as compared with the same period of 1923. The exports this year amounted in value to $3,769,502, which is about one-fourth of the value of those exported to the Dominion during 1923. The Prairie farmers do not seem to be availing themselves with any particular avidity of Mr. Mackenzie King's tariff reductions.

Canada's Story Day by Day

By BLOOMER DAVIES

OCTOBER 30

As the history of the British Empire grew yearly longer, the Imperial bonds grew stronger, so that when British interests were menaced by conditions in South Africa (with Kaiser Wilhelm's sinister hand moving about in the shadows) Canadians were keen to aid in re-establishing peace and order there. There and there all over the country ardent young men sought places in the ranks of the contingent which it was proposed to send half-way round the world to duty. Canada did not expect much from the eager volunteers but garison duty in the South Africa could relieve regular soldiers for war duty. However, the opinions held by the critics at home and the views of the thousands of young Canadians of the first contingent were widely divergent. The first contingent sailed on this day in 1899, under the command of Col. Glyn, for the honor of their country, the young soldiers demanded their full share of active military duties, and in the discharge of the menaced duties fighting and emerged covered with glory. Probably the greatest Canadian victory of the war was at Paardeburg. Her participation in the South African War had a broadening influence upon the character of the nation. Canada learned a lesson in Empire-making not easily forgotten. Today South Africa is a self-governing Dominion, governing herself as Canada does, and there is a mutual liking and confidence between the people of the two lands.

OCTOBER 31 IS DAY OF IMPORTANCE IN MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

October 31 is an important day in municipal affairs. It is the last day during which householders may register for the civic vote, it is the last day for the civic tax assessor, and those who are during which taxpayers may avoid an eight per cent penalty by paying their 1924 general taxes.

Only 1,159 householders and license-holders, hardly more than half the anticipated number, had appended their names to the civic voters' list when the offices of the City Clerk Bradley closed last night. To facilitate registration, the office will be open from 7 to 9 o'clock tonight and tomorrow night. It will close at 5 o'clock on Friday.

One lot was sold at the civic tax sale yesterday morning. It brought $200 into the city. The lot was sold to the City. The lot was sold to the City. The lot was sold to the City.

"Onward, Christian Soldiers"

Although we have on this continent as many public holidays as they have in England, if not more, there are still some holidays which are little known here, and one of these is Whit Sunday, which falls seven weeks after Easter.

On Whit Sunday, 1865, children from two small villages were uniting in a school festival. Among other events of the day there was to be a procession, and those in charge were anxious to have a hymn with such a good saying that the young people would heartily join in singing as they marched along.

A man of the Anglican church in one of the villages was Rev. S. Harding-Gould, and as he had already written several hymns which people liked, he was asked to write one for the Whit Monday procession. His response was the stirring hymn, "Onward, Christian Soldiers." It has been a great favorite with old and young alike ever since. When first it appeared in "The Churchman's Friend," 1845, there were six stanzas, but one of these has since been omitted.

The author was one of the most versatile and industrious of men. He wrote a very large number of devotional books, and others of a theological nature. In addition to this, he also published for a long time one novel a year, and wrote many articles on general topics.

The varied nature of his publications indicates how very wide were the interests of the author. All his work was done with a pen, and without the aid of a secretary. He often did his best work, he states, when he felt the least like work. He never waited for inspiration, but plunged determinedly at his task.

Harding-Gould did not live in a large city. Practically all his life was spent in a few villages, the greater part in a parish where the entire population was only 246. The village was Lew Trenchard, to which he was appointed vicar in 1861, and he remained there until his death in January, 1924. He wrote a great many hymns, the best known of which are "Onward, Christian Soldiers"; "Now the Day is Over"; "Through the Night of Doubt and Gloom"; "Daily, Daily, Sing the Praises"; and a large number of others which are still in use.

Dr. Louis Jensen, the famous musical critic, thinks that one reason for the great popularity of "Onward, Christian Soldiers" is the fact that it first appeared here at the close of the Civil War. The martial spirit engendered by the war, together with the magnificent tune for the hymn, which was written by Mr. Arthur B. Sullivan in 1871, accounted in some degree, at least, for its immediate popularity, and the adding popularity, and the adding popularity, and the adding popularity.

City Manager Plan

Sir,—Reverting again to the commissioner city manager of city government, the enclosed letter and annual report, from a prominent city in Wisconsin, provides a meritorious exemplification.

You will observe the prominent features:—
1. The rapid increase in population from 21,000 to over 40,000 in ten years.

2. The material advance in official salaries since 1914.

3. Their tax rate of 31 mills, whilst relatively high, is on a low assessed value and includes personal property, whilst ours is separate, and in addition, besides it goes to the Province.

4. Their net bonded indebtedness is $2,301,000, and all in serial bonds (as recommended here by Dr. Short).

5. The ratio of police to population is one to 1,921 persons.

6. The ratio of firemen to population is one to 823 persons, making a better showing in this respect than Dayton. A tabulation of many other returns of a like character will be submitted for publication with your kind permission, later.

JOHN DEAN.
P.O. Box 243, Victoria, B.C., Oct. 25, 1924.

Dear Sir,—I am in receipt of your letter of September 27 making inquiry relative to the city manager plan of government and how it is working in the City of Kenosha, Wisconsin. Under separate cover I am sending three copies of our Annual Report for 1923.

The population is estimated at 48,000 people. We have forty-seven men on the Police Department and fifty-two on the Fire Department. The salaries of the Fire and Police Departments are the same. The following is the rate paid in 1923:

The chief of the Fire Department and the chief of the Police Department—$1,500.
The first assistant chief of each department—$1,140.
Captains in the Fire Department, electricians in the Fire Department and the Police Department, and desk clerks in the Police Department—$82 per month.

All other members of either department were paid $70 a month for the past year, and thereafter a salary of $80 a month.

We are now paying the following rates:—
The Chief of the Fire Department and the Chief of the Police Department—$2,000.
The assistant chief of each department—$1,200.

One assistant chief of the Fire Department in charge of electrical and fire prevention inspection—$2,100.
Captains in each department—$1,950.
Electrician in the Police Department—$1,920.

Organic mechanic, detectives and secretary in the Police Department—$1,860.
Drivers in the Fire Department—$1,860.

Patrolmen and firemen who have served the department for two or more years—$1,860.
Patrolmen and firemen who have served the department for one year and less than two years—$1,740.
Patrolmen and firemen who have served the department less than one year—$1,620.

The City of Kenosha is governed by five councilmen elected at large. Our tax rate is $31 for each $1,000 valuation. The valuation given on Page 9 of the report for 1923 is about 65 per cent of the true value of the real estate and about 75 per cent of the true value of personal property. Our net bonded indebtedness for public improvements, waterworks and schools is shown on page 47 of the Annual Report. All our bonds are in serial bonds, and we therefore do not have any sinking fund for credit.

The City of Kenosha has been operating two years under the city manager plan. We have not reduced our tax rate to our citizens, and we have not increased our assessed valuation in normal growth, except due to building operations. We claim that we have operated under the city manager plan in giving full value for each dollar expended.

Our records show that comparing our two years under the city manager plan with the last year under the old form of government, the maintenance cost of 1921 under the old form of government was $100 per cent, the maintenance cost of 1922 under the city manager plan was 75.3 per cent. In other words, in 1922 under the city manager plan we furnished the same or a better service for 60.3 cents than was furnished under the old form of government in 1921 for $1.00, and in 1923 we furnished the same service for 75.3 cents. This is only the maintenance expenditure for the municipal government. This does not include the schools. The schools are governed by the School Board independent of the City Council.

Our total expenditures, including capital expenditures, in 1921 under the old form of government called 100 per cent, the expenditures of the city manager plan was 98.5 per cent, and in 1923 under the city manager plan was 89 per cent. In other words, in 1923 the total expenditures for the operation of the city were 89 cents for every $1.00 paid for the same service in 1921 under the old form of government.

This will give you an idea of the economy that can be had in city operation under the city manager plan of government.

I presume you have been in touch with the secretary of the City Managers' Association, Mr. John S. Lawrence, Kansas; also the National Municipal League, of 261 Broadway, New York. Either or both of these can furnish you considerable data along the line of the operation of the city manager plan of government.

I have just returned from the annual City Managers' convention held this year at Montreal, Quebec, and had a very pleasant time, meeting a number of managers from the Canadian cities. Several of these managers were in attendance at this convention.

Yours very truly,
C. M. OSBORN,
City Manager

LOSS OF MR. M'KIE IS SEVERELY FELT

PREMIER AND LEADER OF OP-POSITION EXTEND SYMPATHY
Big Things Were Expected of Late
Member in Approaching Session of House

Messages of sympathy dispatched yesterday from Victoria to Mrs. John McKie, widow of the late Conservative member-elect for the interior riding of Grand Forks-Greenwood, included telegrams from Premier John Oliver, on behalf of the British Columbia Government, and from Mr. R. H. Pooley, on behalf of the Conservative party.

"My colleague in the Provincial Government join with me in extending to you and yours our sincere sympathy in your sudden and terrible bereavement," said the Premier's message. That sent by Mr. Pooley was similarly worded.

"The tragic death of Mr. McKie came as a great shock to us here," said Mr. Pooley yesterday. "Mr. McKie was one of the most popular men in the Province, and throughout his constituency and wherever else he was known, he was held in the greatest respect. We of the Conservative party considered him a great acquisition to the British Columbia Legislature. He was one of the soundest business men of the Province, and we expected big things from him in the approaching session of the House."

GILLIS TRAIL NOW LEADS TO SEATTLE

ARRESTS LIKELY TO FOLLOW
POLICE TRACKING

Use of Dictaphone in B.C. Prison
Gives Authorities New Bodies
Are Still Missing

New clues in the Gillis mystery now lead the Provincial police to hope that they will soon know with certainty whether, and if so by whom, Captain James Gillis and his son, missing since their gashot, the Beryl G, was found adrift with bloodstained decks September 18 off Turn Point, San Juan Islands, were murdered.

The latest information in the hands of the police has taken Inspector Cruickshank to Seattle, the main haunt of the hi-jackers of Puget Sound, where it is possible arrests may be made in the very near future. Clues said to have been secured in a British Columbia prison, where conversation between an American liquor pirate now serving a jail sentence, and his wife, was overheard by means of a dictaphone, have led the trail to the American city. With the co-operation of the United States law authorities it is now expected that the case may shortly be solved.

Although the bodies of Captain Gillis and his son have not been recovered, little doubt is entertained by the police that they were murdered. The Beryl G, when found, showed indications of a struggle, and her papers were scattered about. There was no liquor aboard the craft.

Cleaved From Victoria
The gashot, a small vessel of the purse seine type named after Captain Gillis' daughter, cleared from Victoria, September 11, without cargo for Niihau, West Coast of Vancouver Island. Subsequently, however, she is believed to have taken on rum at some point in adjacent waters.

The latest theory is that she was one link in a chain carrying alcohol from off San Francisco to Seattle. It is said that at the time of her sailing from Victoria, a British steamer was

ROYAL REVIEW, W.B.A.

On Tuesday evening, Victoria Review, W.B.A., held its annual banquet at the K. of C. Hall. A short address was delivered by Commander
Mrs. Harrison, following which several toasts were given, to the King, to Miss Blina M. West, Supreme Commander, and others. The guests of honor at the banquet were Commander Mrs. Moor, of Alexandria Review,
No. 11; Mrs. Stephen, Commander of Royal Review, No. 18; Mrs. Ritchie, Collector of Nos. 11 and 18. Several members of other reviews were also present.

The banquet tables were beautifully decorated with large boat-shaped baskets filled with mauve and white chrysanthemums, while sprays of autumn and ivy enhanced the pic-turesqueness of the decorative scheme. Dainty little baskets filled with home-made candy were loaned for the occasion by Miss Scott, who presented the delicious candy to the Review.

Following the banquet a social evening was enjoyed by all present, and dancing took place to the strains of music supplied by the Muses Band.

The members are grateful to the committee in charge of the affair, including Mrs. Jacklin, Mrs. Herring and Mrs. Laing.

Arranges Administration Of U.S. Boxer Indemnity

Professor Paul Monroe, Educational Expert, Will Return to Far East in January to Study Philippines' System—Administration Board Organized to Attend to Expenditure of $14,000,000 U. S. Returned Boxer Indemnity

PROFESSOR Paul Monroe, of Columbia University, who arranged in Peking for the administration of the Boxer indemnity funds returned to China by the United States by legislative act of Congress last May, returned last night aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Australia to prepare for another educational mission to the Far East.

He will organize a group of educational experts in the United States and will return with them in January to make a scientific study of the educational system of the Philippines. Professor Monroe is director of the International Institute and professor of education of the Teachers' College, Columbia University. After the American Congressional Act of last Summer which stipulated that the remaining share due the United States for the Boxer indemnity should be returned to China, Professor Monroe was appointed to visit Peking and arrange for the administration of the funds. Disposition of the funds was left to the decision of the Chinese Government, with the recommendation that they be used for educational and cultural purposes.

On September 17, President Taoh Kun issued a presidential mandate stating that China had determined that the money should be used purely for educational and cultural purposes. Suggestions had been advanced in certain quarters that the fund be used for building railways or for food conservation, but the proposals were not adopted.

"I believe the Boxer fund should be used to meet immediate rather than future hypothetical needs of the people of China," Dr. Monroe said. "Our returned indemnity amounts to $14,000,000 in gold, and this is placed at the disposal of the Chinese fund administration to do what they think best for the advancement of Chinese education in China rather than abroad. The first return indemnity is looking after the education of Chinese in foreign countries. Some 100 students are sent to America every year with the aid of this fund."

He advocated the application of the fund to present knowledge to the people on agriculture, health and industrial needs to accomplish the work established by modern experimental work in village education in its broad sense.

The educator does not favor expending large sums for theoretical educational needs of the Chinese in the years to come, but believes that the money should be spent toward meeting the present educational needs of the Chinese masses along agricultural, industrial and health lines.

If the Columbia University professors recommendations are adopted, model experimental work in village education will be carried out. He also urged that more science should be introduced in the curricula of the Chinese middle schools. Until the Chinese are more thoroughly grounded in scientific studies, Dr. Monroe declares, they will continue to be dependent on foreign experts for the management of their railways and other public utilities.

He also hopes that the fund will be administered so efficiently and impartially that it may be augmented by donations from Chinese sources and become a permanent fund. "I have already been offered a donation of $2,000,000 by Chinese abroad toward this permanent fund."

Dr. Monroe will have on this committee to study the situation of Philippine instruction. President Zuzallo, of the Washington University, and President Kaufman, of the University of Minnesota.

BEAR CUB CHASED ABOUT CHEMAINUS

Juvenile Bruin Made Prisoner for Day, But Escapes and Returns to Home in Woods

CHEMAINUS, Oct. 29.—Residents here have experienced a succession of thrills during the last few days. On Saturday a bear cub appeared in the back yard of the home of Mr. Randall Jarrett. It was evidently searching for food, as it was found by Mr. Tom McEwan nosing in some tin by the back door. Mr. McEwan drove it away, but early Monday morning it reappeared at Chemainus Hotel. Just before 9 o'clock, two boys, Walter Murray and Bertie Reid, on their way to school, met it on Store Street. The little animal took fright, rushed in the grounds of Mr. John Humbird and climbed a tree near the back door.

A crowd quickly collected, and someone got a rope, which was tied high up on the tree. Nine or ten men then jerked the rope, shaking the tree in hope of dislodging the little fellow, but he hung on tight. Then two men climbed the tree, one getting above the cub, who then scrambled down the trunk to the ground, where he was lassoed. The rope, however, was too thick, and he managed to escape and ran away, but was stopped by the fence. He was then finally caught, chained to the tree and given a meal of bread and syrup, which he seemed to enjoy.

There was an endless procession of visitors to Mr. Humbird's back yard all day Monday to see the cub, which was about the size of a retriever dog. The little thing seemed anything but happy in his new surroundings. This was probably why he managed to get loose yesterday morning and amble off again into his native woods.

REQUEST REPAIRS FOR SOOKE ROAD

WANT PROVISION MADE FOR INCREASED TRAFFIC

Premier Oliver Promises Consideration on Return of Hon. Dr. Sutherland From Mainland

In the absence of Hon. Dr. Sutherland, Provincial Minister of Public Works, who has been called to Revelstoke owing to the illness of his partner, a deputation headed by Mr. R. H. Pooley, Conservative member for Esquimalt, and representative of the Sooke district, had a conference yesterday with Premier Oliver in connection with repairs required on the Sooke Road. Premier Oliver sympathized with the views expressed and promised to lay the question before Hon. Mr. Sutherland on his return from the Interior, for his consideration.

It was pointed out by members of the deputation that, through the settlement in the Sooke district of some 350 bible students from Victoria, the roads were being subjected to much heavier traffic than was formerly the case, and that the recent wet weather had caused considerable damage to the main Sooke highway. They asked, principally, that the Sooke Road be surfaced and oiled as soon as weather conditions permitted, from Luxton to Sooke, a distance of approximately sixteen miles. The road is already surfaced from Victoria to Luxton.

Premier Oliver pointed out to the deputation that the Government had spent considerable money on the road during the past Summer, the improvements including the building of easier grades and several bridges and culverts.

Royal Bank Inspector To Accept Federal Post

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—The appointment of C. S. Tompkins, Montreal, one of the inspectors of the Royal Bank of Canada, to the position of Government Inspector of banks will, it is expected, be announced following the next meeting of the cabinet Friday. The appointment has not yet been made officially, but it is understood that Mr. Tompkins has been offered the post and he has accepted it.

No valves ground yet.

No carbon taken out yet.
And it runs with just as much pep as ever.

(Name on request)

5 to 10 Times Farther Without "Carbon"

WHAT do users say about Aristomotor Oil?—Will you take their word? Then read what they write us—the letter above is only a sample of hundreds we receive.

All motor oils—don't miss this point—deposit some carbonaceous residue.

But one kind which you know as "carbon" is hard and gritty. It attaches to valves, cylinders, pistons and spark plugs and stays.

Power is lost. Motors miss. Metals may be scored by this abrasive. You must remove it every two or three thousand miles at a cost of time and money.

Another kind which comes from Aristomotor Oil is soft and fluffy—so light and flaky that most of it blows out with the exhaust almost as fast as it forms.

It hasn't the tendency to cling. It is not abrasive so can't do harm.

10,000—20,000—50,000 miles without the necessity of "carbon" removal are records that users write us about.

They tell, too, of its mileage per gallon—the durable protection that it gives to the motor.

You can use an oil like this, and write such letters if you feel so inclined.

Just fill with Aristomotor and use it always pure. Don't contaminate it with an unthinking request for merely "a quart of oil".

Fashions and Foibles

By Shirley Sharon

The scarf, the apron tunic and the use of lace belong to the very simple but decidedly elegant type of frock that pretty girls wear when they dance with the prince—England's or their own.

Lace is one of the most elegant of the new evening materials—metal lace for the very formal type of dress. Chantilly and dyed lace for less important frocks. Mauve, lilac, salmon and blonde are favorite colors for dyed lace and are used with crepe de Chine, georgette, light-weight silk crepe and satin crepe of exactly the same color. For a less formal dinner or dancing dress the printed georgettes, crepes de Chine and silk crepes are charming for a frock with the draped apron front and scarf collar.

A Unique Contest

Twenty words or less—and you get $500. That means $25 or more a word. Even the most famous authors can't command the price! But twenty-one in Canada is going to get it!

A Title Writing Contest is now announced in the newspapers. The first prize is $500, the second prize $200 and the third $100. In addition, there are eight consolation prizes of $25 each. A picture is run in Conquest advertising without a title and the best titles submitted win the money.

The picture tells an interesting story. One can imagine dozens of things that one of the three persons might be saying. There is the young man who has evidently come to call. His raincoat and umbrella are dripping water all over the hall rug. In fact, the older woman in the picture is holding his umbrella without seeming to care where the water runs. The young lady of the house is descending the stairway.

Which one of the people is doing the talking? What is being said? Or can you think up a phrase or sentence that sums up the situation? It is clear as can be that the rug on the floor is waterproof. That gives one lead for a title.

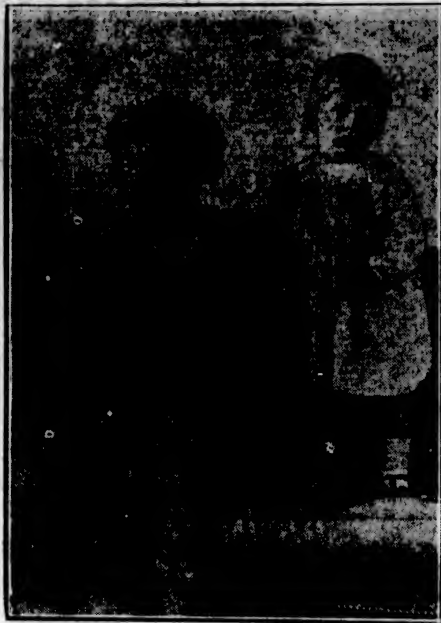

All you have to do to enter this contest with its thousand dollars for prizes is to get an entry blank at the nearest Conquest dealer's. It might be well to have a short talk with him about the nature of this kind of floor covering so that you will have your selling points in line.

Titles must be submitted between the dates of October 30 and November 3. Wide-awake dealers in Conquest are taking advantage of the interest this title writing contest is sure to arouse and are having special sales during the weeks of October 30 and November 1.

The title may be written in French or English, in slogan form, as dialogue, or a few words of description. But it must not be longer than twenty words. It may be as much shorter as you can make it. (Adv.)

HUNDREDS ATTEND BIG CHARITY BALL

SAANICHTON SCENE OF DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Under Auspices of Saanich Police Commission and Council Fifth Annual Dance Held

The fifth charity ball to be held under the auspices of the Saanich Police Commissioners and the Saanich Council took place last evening at the Saanich Agricultural Hall, and met with outstanding success. For the last four years these dances have been one of the features of the season, and during that time over $1,000 has been netted for the benefit of the poor children in the district. Last night about 300 guests attended the dance, which proved to be in every particular an exceptionally enjoyable affair.

For the occasion mazes of flags and hunting transformed the big hall into a picturesque setting for the function. The decorations were carried out under the capable management of Mr. John Richards.

Dancing to the strains of Plinder's orchestra continued from 9 p.m. until after 2 a.m., and the repeated encores called for by the guests thoroughly evinced the pleasure of all present at the splendid programme of dance music.

Members of the West Saanich Women's Institute were in charge of the very delicious supper which was served during the evening.

Last night's dance proved immensely popular, not only with residents of Saanich, but many parties were formed and attended from Victoria and vicinity.

The success of the function was due to the untiring efforts of the members of the committee in charge, and their reward was not only the knowledge that their guests spent a pleasant and memorable evening, but that also the funds for the local charity work was appreciably augmented by their efforts.

The dance was held under the auspices of Reeve Robert Macleod, Colonel C. E. King and Mr. P. W. Dempster, of the Saanich Police Commission, and Saanich Councillors Van-tright, Oldfield, Graham, H. O. Kirkham, W. H. Robertson, L. C. Hagan and Francis Simpson.

INAUGURAL DANCE ENJOYED BY MANY

Civil Service Association Entertains Large Crowd at Alexandra House Last Night

Spreading branches of Autumn-tinted maple and oak were used in panel effect last night in the ballroom of Alexandra House for the inaugural dance of the season under the auspices of the Civil Service Association, while a number of palms added a pleasing touch of greenery to the scene, which was both unusual and extremely artistic.

Several hundred guests attended the dance and were enthusiastic in their applause and appreciation of the splendid music supplied by Mr. A. Prescott's Royal Victoria Symphony Orchestra, which had for the occasion obtained many sheets of the latest music straight from New York. The waltz tunes were particularly popular, and throughout the evening numerous encores were incessantly called for.

Under the capable management of Mr. A. M. D. Fairbairn, the committee in charge of the dance had attended to every detail which could possibly have added to the enjoyment of the many guests, with the result that the inaugural dance of the Winter season will be placed on the social annals of the association as one of the most successful functions sponsored by the Civil Servants.

Delicious supper was served at two sittings to accommodate the numerous guests, the tables being prettily decorated with Autumn flowers.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hopper, Miss Eastman, Miss E. Brown, Miss B. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kent, Miss T. Service, Mr. and Mrs. J. Kyle, Miss C. Gray, Mrs. Hamlet, Miss M. Donlin, Miss Helliary, Mr. and Mrs. Scharf, Miss Doris Hollis, Miss S. King, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. D. Fairbairn, Miss Andrews, Miss Ruth Cochran, Mrs. Robinson, Miss M. Candlelight A Thrilling Serial

BY RUBY AYRES

The story thus far: Minnie and William—William the Third, she adoringly calls him—met at the seaside on a holiday. She is an undeniably plain, awkward little girl of nine, and he is a freckled, sunburnt boy several years older—not a picturesque pair. But they strike up a friendship, marked by constant devotion on the boy's part, until, unfortunately, the girl's father, a miserly old man, dies. During the following years Minnie and William occasionally see each other. Then, when Minnie's father dies, she meets William.

CHAPTER X.

William knows "Well—won't you ask me to come in?" said William.

"Of course, I didn't recognize you. Do please come in."

She shut the door and silently led the way into the sitting-room. The gas was not lit, and the fire had burned low, and Minnie stooped to poke it into a blaze, to give herself time in which to recover her composure.

"Mother's ill," she said, not very steadily. "Very ill, I am afraid, and"—she turned and looked at William in the dim light—"father's failed in business. I suppose you haven't heard so I may as well tell you the worst at once."

She tried to laugh, not very successfully. "They've made him a bankrupt, we only knew today, and I—she stopped suddenly and covered her face with her hands.

"Oh, I'm so tired of it all, so tired," she said brokenly.

There was a little silence, then William put out his hand and drew one of hers down from her face, keeping it in his strong clasp.

"Why didn't you write to me? Why didn't you tell me?" he asked.

"How could I? Why should I? What's the use of worrying other people with our troubles?"

It was in her heart to add: "Besides I wrote you last," but she kept silent.

"I am your oldest friend," William reminded her.

"I know." She had not forgotten that, though it seemed during the past six months as if he had.

She wiped her tears shamefacedly away and tried to smile.

"You won't come again if I'm so depressing."

"You've said that to me before several times and I always do come again, don't I?" he asked.

"Yes—but sometimes it's a long while between," she answered. She could not for the life of her have kept back just that one reproach.

He made no reply, and Minnie drew her hand away.

"Sit down and tell me all the news," she said. "What are you doing in Walton tonight?"

He laughed. "How unkind! I came to see you, of course."

"Do you expect me to believe that?"

"It's the truth, whether you believe it or not."

He dragged up a chair and sat down stolidly, looking up at her with whimsical eyes.

"I was in my room in Maddox Street two hours ago, turning out some old letters and photographs," he told her. "And I found this."

He took a small old-fashioned carte-de-visite photograph from his pocket and showed it to her.

"Do you remember sending me that?"

Minnie glanced at the picture and the warm blood rushed to her face.

"Oh, that dreadful thing!" she said, dismayed. She would have taken it from him, but he laughed and held it beyond her reach.

"No—you gave it to me and I shall keep it."

"I know I'm not a beauty now," Minnie said with a groan, "but was I ever as plain as that?"

"It is an excellent portrait of what you were eight years ago," William said. "So excellent that the mere sight of it two hours ago made me want to see you. So I got in the first train and here I am!" He waited.

"Well, you have not said that you are glad to see me."

"I am always glad to see you," Minnie told him gently. "You know that."

Yes, he knew that! But he turned his head away with an odd jerky movement as he answered: "Thank you."

It was some moments before either of them spoke again, then William said:

"I'm sorry about your gaffer; it's hard luck. What can be done?"

She shook her head.

"Nothing, I'm afraid." Then suddenly she struck her hands together. "Oh, if I could only make some money!"

"That's what we all want to do," William said. "But he had pushed the straight heavy hair back from her forehead.

"Oh, you'll make it easy enough," she said confidently. "You're so clever."

"It's kind of you to say so, my dear."

Soaking takes the place of rubbing--

JUST by soaking the clothes in the suds of this new soap, dirt is gently loosened and dissolved.

Even the dirt that is ground in at neckbands and cuff-edges yields to a light rubbing with dry Rinso. Not a thread is weakened. The mild Rinso suds work thoroughly through and through the clothes without injury to a single fabric.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux. For the family wash it is as wonderful as Lux is for fine things.

All grocers and department stores sell Rinso.

MASQUERADE DANCE IS GREAT SUCCESS

Many and varied were the costumes of the first masquerade of the season given by Royal Review, No. 18, W.B.A., Macdonalds, on Monday evening. Elevators full of laughing masqueraders were carried to the top floor of the Campbell Building. Black and yellow were the predominating colors, while the sheikhs, harem ladies, Pierrots, witches, colored ladies and their gentlemen friends were well represented.

The judges, Mr. and Mrs. Booth, of Esquimalt, and Mrs. H. Crocker, had great difficulty in choosing the best costumes, but finally decided on the following: Best-dressed lady, Mrs. Timothy, harem lady; best-dressed gentleman, Mr. Al. Jeeves, as a colored gentleman costume. Mrs. Latham, as national costume. Mrs. P. Schmeis as a Chinaman; most comic lady, Mrs. L. Schmeis, as Susan comes to town; most comic gentleman, Mr. Parsons, as a peddler; best Hallowe'en costume, Mr. P. Welch, as a witch; second best, Mrs. J. H. Lawrence. Mr. Paul Schmeis was also the fortunate winner of the tombola prize. Mr. Arthur Manson, master of ceremonies, ably managed the grand march, which took place at 10 o'clock. The committee, Mrs. Stephen, Mrs. Schmeis and Mrs. Tinsley, served dainty refreshments. Particularly noticeable were the generous response of the orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. Charles Hunt, leaving nothing to be desired in the way of music. The committee wishes to thank all those who contributed to the success of the evening.

MISS ALICE STANLEY WEDDED IN LONDON

Grand-Daughter of Mrs. C. E. Pooley, and Niece of Conservative Leader,
Has Fashionable Marriage

A wedding of great interest was celebrated in London, Eng., on October 7, when the Bishop of Willesden (formerly Rt. Rev. Bishop Percin, of Columbia diocese), the Rev. J. E. Pierce, the Rev. J. Allan James, chaplain to the forces, and the Rev. R. C. Salmon, rector of Chiddingfold, at the Guards' Chapel, Wellington Barracks, united in marriage Miss Violet Alice Stanley, elder daughter of Vice-Admiral the Hon. Victor Stanley, M.V.O., C.B., and Mrs. Stanley, of 73 Upper Berkeley Street, and grand-daughter of Mrs. C. E. Pooley, (formerly, Esquimaux, and sister of Mr. H. H. A guard of honor of non-commissioned officers and men of the Coldstream Guards lined the approach to the chapel, and filed into it after the bride party, lining the central passage during the ceremony. The beautiful little chapel was decorated with white flowers, and the choral part of the service was accompanied by the Guards' band, which played before and after the wedding.

NORTH MEMBERS WANT RAILROAD EXTENSION

Mr. H. G. Perry, M.P.A., to Continue
Campaign for Completion of P.G.E. Railway

One of the questions which, it is expected, will come early discussion in the approaching session of the British Columbia Legislature, is that having to do with transportation relief for the Prince George and Peace River districts. Mr. H. G. Perry, Government member for the riding of Port George, who is expected to arrive in Victoria this morning to attend the Liberal caucus, has stated that the Northern British Columbia members would renew their campaign for immediate completion of the P.G.E. Railway into Prince George.

Mr. Perry contends that the pulp-mill project which has been hanging fire at Port George for several years is not likely to be undertaken until direct rail connection with Vancouver is afforded. He also states that he will continue to urge that everything possible be done to provide transportation relief for the Peace River district. The opening up of that rich territory, he said, would go far towards solving the immigration, public debt and other problems.

Visible Ears Are Fashion Decree

The Shingled Hair Styles of Last Year of Keeping the Ears Covered Gives Way to the Newer Fashion, in Which the Hair is Drawn Back from the Ears, Leaving Them Visible. This Photograph Shows the Old Fashion.

(trails of orange blossom. The bride veil was of old family lace, worn by the late Countess of Derby at her wedding, and lent by the bride's aunt, Lady Isabel (dormant Hardy). The veil was also bride's mother at her wedding. There were two pages, the Hon. Richard Stanley, younger son of Lord and Lady Stanley, and Master Henry Heatley, nephew of the bridegroom. There were three bridesmaids, Miss Rosemary Stanley, sister of the bride; Miss Estelle Milburn, sister of the bridegroom, and the Hon. Sylvia Portman. Their dresses were of crushed gold tulle, with Virginia creeper leaf red girdles. They had gold veils draped with Autumn gold leaves, and each carried a red fan, the gift of the bridegroom. Accompanying the bride to the altar steps they carried the fans closed, and on leaving the church they unfurled them. Capt. R. Martin, Coldstream Guards, was best man.

Over 1,200 guests attended the wedding, and following the service a reception was held at Derby House. Mrs. James Dunscombe, of Hatley Park, and her son-in-law and daughter, Capt. and Mrs. Bromley, were among the guests at the wedding.

Capt. Milburn's gift to the bride were flexible diamond and sapphire bracelets and sapphire and diamond rings. Lady Ludlow presented her with a beautiful double-headed pin set with sapphires and diamonds. Admiral and Mrs. Stanley gave their daughter a fur coat and a tortoiseshell and gold-filled dressing case; while Lord and Lady Derby, who lent the bride and groom Stratford House for the reception, presented the bride with a beautiful diamond and platinum headband. Another "family" present was a diamond and ruby brooch sent by Lord and Lady Stanley.

HAVE NEW PLAN FOR POLO CHAMPIONSHIP

Northern Clubs and Southern to Have Separate Series of Matches—Winners to Play Off for Title

DEL MONTE, Calif., Oct. 29.—The Pacific Coast sub-committee of the American Polo Association has decided on a new system to settle the California polo championship next year. It is to have a schedule of matches played by Northern clubs in the North and a schedule for the Southern clubs in the South. The winner of each series will come together to play for the title at a club field to be later named.

The Pacific Coast open polo championship will be settled in a tournament at the Del Monte fields. The dates set are March 21 to April 15. This tournament will bring together all the crack polo aggregations in the West. The fact that Midwick, of Pasadena, United States senior and junior champions, will enter, will attract a larger entry than usual. The club that will undoubtedly be in the competition against Midwick are San Mateo, Berkeley, Aptos, Del Monte, Riverside, and possibly Comodoro. The army will probably have several teams, including the 11th Cavalry from Monterey. The Hawaiian Islands will come over with a strong four, and it is expected that British Columbia and Denver will also enter.

The polo season on the Coast will get under way shortly after the first of the year. Matches have been played right along, and the players and ponies will require but little conditioning to fit them for the fray.

Just how the teams will line up, outside of Midwick, which will again be represented by Teddy Miller, Eric Pedley, Arthur Perkins and Carleton Burke, is not definitely known. San Mateo will be stronger than in previous years, with Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney adding much strength.

LIBERALS LOSE OUT IN BRITISH POLL

that year since his election to the British House in 1910.

Lady Astor was re-elected for the British Division of Plymouth. Lady Astor's majority was increased from 2,676 to 5,097. The polling: Lady Astor, Conservative, 13,174; Captain G. W. Brennan, Labor, 13,082.

Corbin Weid, 106 years old, was one of the early voters in the Enfield Division of Middlesex today.

A. W. Haycock, former Canadian and Labor member for Salford West, was defeated by the Conservative candidate, W. Anthony.

John Robert Cynes, Lord, Privy Seal, and Deputy Leader of the House, was re-elected for the Plating Division of Manchester, but his majority was reduced. The polling: Cynes, 17,223; F. A. Holmes, Conservative, 16,228; E. Baker, Liberal, 1,538.

The first Communist elected to the new Parliament was S. Maklavia, who defeated the Liberal, H. Hogbin, his conqueror in the last election in Battersea North. This, therefore, was a low for the Liberal, who retained the seat with an increased majority.

The pollings, as expected, proved much heavier than in the last election. The first woman elected to a new concession to the House of Commons, Miss J. Wilkinson, national organizer for the National Union of Distributive and Allied Workers, and a representative of the Manchester Council, J. A. Parkinson, a member of the Government and Controller of the King's Household, was re-elected in Wigan.

A striking feature of the election was the great increase in the Conservative majority, almost everywhere, even when the representation was not changed.

Sir E. W. M. Grigg, who was defeated in Oldham, was formerly Sir Lloyd George's secretary.

Tom Mann, the Labor-Communist and Communist candidate, was badly defeated in Nottingham.

E. Brocklebank, Conservative, captured the seat, 11,524; W. N. Birrell, Liberal, 10,078; Mann, 1,448.

The Minister of Pensions, F. O. Roberts, was re-elected in West Bromwich.

In Battley and Morley the Liberals made a gain. W. Forrest, Liberal, 16,369; H. Turner, Labor, 15,966.

Bath gave a Conservative gain. Capt. C. P. Fox, Conservative, polling 16,947; F. W. Haferly, Liberal, 13,109; Captain W. S. Scobell, Labor, 3,914.

The Labor War Minister, Stephen Walsh was re-elected for the 10th division of Lancashire with a poll of 12,273. His Conservative opponent, Gabriel, polled 7,852.

In the Darwen division of Lancashire, Sir F. H. Henderson, Conservative, polled 12,017; F. Sindle, Liberal, present incumbent, 12,083; T. Ramsden, Labor, 9,188.

Devaughy, Ben Riley, Labor, 9,941; F. W. Shesley, Conservative, 7,516; T. K. Harvey, Liberal, 6,322.

The Premier Passes Unrecognized

Here's a Rather Interesting Photograph of Ramsay MacDonald—Perhaps a Prophetic One. The Bobby, Probably Unaware of the Premier's Identity, Is Telling Mr. MacDonald to "Move On."

borough East. The vote was: Miss Wilkinson, Labor, 9,574; Ward-Aldam, Conservative, 8,447; Colonel Tenney Williams, Liberal, 4,682.

Conservative gain was made in Hartlepool South, where W. Sugden won the seat. The vote: Sugden, Conservative, 12,077; W. A. Jowitt, Liberal, 15,734; Aitchison, Labor, 8,717. Jowitt was the previous sitting member.

The Conservatives made another gain in the Macclesfield division of Manchester. The Conservative, G. Hurst, polling 14,035; T. R. Ackroyd, Liberal, 10,272.

An extraordinarily significant result was at Wallasey, where the Conservative, Sir R. B. Chadwick, retained his seat, but, whereas in the last election his majority was only 849 in his contest against a Liberal, his majority this time against a Laborite was 12,386. The figures were: Chadwick, 22,549; Warren, Labor, 8,431.

Oliver Baldwin, the Laborite son of former Premier Baldwin, was beaten in Dudley by the Conservative, C. E. Lloyd, the result being: Lloyd, 11,199; Baldwin, 10,314.

J. Potts, Labor, won in Barnsey, despite the fact that the Conservative candidate retired to leave a straight field between the Liberals and Laborites, but the Labor majority was reduced from 5,790 in the last election to 913.

The university town of Oxford, which in the last election displayed wrong Liberal tendencies, seems likely to fall back to its former Conservative leanings. The famous orator, Captain R. C. Bourne, Conservative, who wrested the seat from the Liberals at a by-election in June, has retained the seat with an increased majority.

The pollings, as expected, proved much heavier than in the last election. The first woman elected to a new concession to the House of Commons, Miss J. Belfast Central-West (Ulster Borough)—Last House (C.), unopposed; (X), T. Molea (C.), unopposed, unchanged.

Caithness and Sutherland (Scottish County)—Last House (L.), unopposed. (X), Sir A. Sinclair (L.), unopposed, unchanged.

Cardiganshire (Welsh County)—Last House (L.), 5,978 majority. (X), R. H. Morris (L.), unopposed, unchanged.

Glamorganshire, Neath (Welsh County)—Last House (L.), 8,208 majority. (X), W. Jenkins (Lab.), unopposed, unchanged.

The Conservatives made another gain in the Macclesfield division of Manchester. The Conservative, G. Hurst, polling 14,035; T. R. Ackroyd, Liberal, 10,272.

An extraordinarily significant result was at Wallasey, where the Conservative, Sir R. B. Chadwick, retained his seat, but, whereas in the last election his majority was only 849 in his contest against a Liberal, his majority this time against a Laborite was 12,386. The figures were: Chadwick, 22,549; Warren, Labor, 8,431.

Oliver Baldwin, the Laborite son of former Premier Baldwin, was beaten in Dudley by the Conservative, C. E. Lloyd, the result being: Lloyd, 11,199; Baldwin, 10,314.

J. Potts, Labor, won in Barnsey, despite the fact that the Conservative candidate retired to leave a straight field between the Liberals and Laborites, but the Labor majority was reduced from 5,790 in the last election to 913.

The university town of Oxford, which in the last election displayed wrong Liberal tendencies, seems likely to fall back to its former Conservative leanings. The famous orator, Captain R. C. Bourne, Conservative, who wrested the seat from the Liberals at a by-election in June, has retained the seat with an increased majority.

The pollings, as expected, proved much heavier than in the last election. The first woman elected to a new concession to the House of Commons, Miss J. Wilkinson, national organizer for the National Union of Distributive and Allied Workers, and a representative of the Manchester Council, J. A. Parkinson, a member of the Government and Controller of the King's Household, was re-elected in Wigan.

A striking feature of the election was the great increase in the Conservative majority, almost everywhere, even when the representation was not changed.

Sir E. W. M. Grigg, who was defeated in Oldham, was formerly Sir Lloyd George's secretary.

Tom Mann, the Labor-Communist and Communist candidate, was badly defeated in Nottingham.

E. Brocklebank, Conservative, captured the seat, 11,524; W. N. Birrell, Liberal, 10,078; Mann, 1,448.

The Minister of Pensions, F. O. Roberts, was re-elected in West Bromwich.

In Battley and Morley the Liberals made a gain. W. Forrest, Liberal, 16,369; H. Turner, Labor, 15,966.

Bath gave a Conservative gain. Capt. C. P. Fox, Conservative, polling 16,947; F. W. Haferly, Liberal, 13,109; Captain W. S. Scobell, Labor, 3,914.

The Labor War Minister, Stephen Walsh was re-elected for the 10th division of Lancashire with a poll of 12,273. His Conservative opponent, Gabriel, polled 7,852.

In the Darwen division of Lancashire, Sir F. H. Henderson, Conservative, polled 12,017; F. Sindle, Liberal, present incumbent, 12,083; T. Ramsden, Labor, 9,188.

Devaughy, Ben Riley, Labor, 9,941; F. W. Shesley, Conservative, 7,516; T. K. Harvey, Liberal, 6,322.

Mount Forest, Ont.—"Before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I felt weak and miserable, and had pains all through me. I was living in Alina Craig at the time, and one day a friend came in and told me her experience of using the Vegetable Compound and advised me to take a bottle of it. I began to get stronger and those pains left me. I am glad I found out about this medicine as I think there is none equal to it for women who have troubles of this kind. I cannot praise the Vegetable Compound too highly for the good it has done me. Whenever I feel a woman suffering I am glad to tell her of it."—Mrs. W. M. RIMMALL, R.R. No. 1, Mount Forest, Ontario.

One thousand Doukhobors, the women all wearing black or grey, calmly waited at Brilliant this afternoon for the special train chartered to bring in the body of Peter Vereglin.

The train, due at 2 p.m., will not now arrive until midnight, allowance not having been made for the inquest at Grand Forks, proceeding this afternoon on the bodies of the Doukhobor leader and John Mackie, grand forks-Greenwood member.

The young woman in the company of Peter Vereglin, who is now dead, is Nelson, was Mary Streloff, niece of Nelson Streloff, who is in charge of Peter's funeral in Nelson. It is now stated.

In all cases McPhee was lucky enough to be saved. His recent experience on the Spray was the worst he had ever encountered, however, he said.

Mr. McPhee was on H.M.S. Lancaster when that vessel was here during the war and made a number of friends during his short stay here then. Upon receiving his discharge early this year, he booked passage and arrived here early last May with his wife.

Mr. McPhee served in the Royal Navy for sixteen years, attaining the rank of chief petty officer. During the Great War he served on several different boats, being mostly attached to submarine chasers. Three such vessels on which he was serving were sunk by submarines. In all cases McPhee was lucky enough to be saved. His recent experience on the Spray was the worst he had ever encountered, however, he said.

Mr. McPhee was on H.M.S. Lancaster when that vessel was here during the war and made a number of friends during his short stay here then. Upon receiving his discharge early this year, he booked passage and arrived here early last May with his wife.

LIBERAL CAUCUS
MEETING TODAYGOVERNMENT MEMBERS EX-PECTED THIS MORNINGMr. Ian Mackenzie, Vancouver, is Prominently Mentioned for Appointment as Speaker

The tentative programme to be followed by the Government on various questions which will arise during the Fall session of the British Columbia Legislature will be arranged today and tomorrow when meetings will be held at the Parliament Buildings of the Liberal caucus. Members of the Government will arrive in the city this morning. It is expected, and the first of the series of meetings will be held this afternoon.

First among the duties of the Government members is the appointment of a Speaker, and in this connection the name of Capt. Ian Mackenzie, one of the Vancouver members, has been freely mentioned. Capt. Mackenzie was in Victoria Tuesday and had a long conference with Premier Oliver and other members of the Cabinet. Premier Oliver refused yesterday to say what opinion he held regarding the filling of the speakership and ministers who were interviewed were equally reticent. It has been pointed out by those in favor of the appointment of Capt. Mackenzie, that such action would give the city of Vancouver its much desired representation in the inner councils of the Government which it has done so much to keep in power. Those who are inclined to oppose his appointment do so, not because they think he is not qualified for the post, but because they are loath to lose his services on the floor of the House.

The tragic death yesterday morning of Mr. John McKillop, Conservative member-elect for the interior riding of Grand Forks, has considerably altered the standing of the Opposition in the House. Instead of the Conservatives having eighteen members, they now have seventeen. The three members elected on the Provincial party ticket, who are expected to line up with the Conservatives, bring the Opposition forces to twenty against the Government of twenty-three (allowing for the appointment of a Speaker from the Liberal ranks). The three Labor members in the House make a total possible opposition vote of twenty-three.

Premier Oliver intimated yesterday that he would authorize a by-election to fill the vacant seat of McKillop, should he die, shortly after the end of the approaching session.

VISITOR SOUNDS
OPTIMISTIC NOTEMR. W. H. GARDINER ADVISES ACTIVE BUSINESS MOVEPraises Efforts to Unify Activities of Vancouver Island Business Distribution in Better Condition

"The way to make things better is to expose yourself to opportunities," said Mr. Gardiner, of Winnipeg, of the firm of Oldfield, Kirby & Gardiner, speaking before the local Real Estate Board at its luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce rooms yesterday. Mr. Gardiner said that he felt that as far as Western Canada was concerned the worst was past in a business way. There was evidence on all sides that better things were in sight.

Mr. Gardiner referred to the move that was being made by Vancouver Island centres for concerted action. He was pleased to see this. He felt that Victoria and the Island offered greater possibilities than the rest of the province, and that the rest of the world.

On the prairies the situation was much better than for a long time. Immigration was being grappled with by the government in a businesslike way, and with that solved, the taxation question would also be alleviated.

Mr. Gardiner, who is the Canadian representative of the National Association of Retail Estate Boards, attended the last convention in Washington, D.C., urged the members of the local board to take an interest in that body. He advised that the points presented at the meeting be obtained and studied.

Mr. Gardiner referred to the sad errand that had brought him to Victoria on this occasion. This was the funeral of his partner, Mr. J. H. Oldfield, of Elk Lake. He made feeling reference to his twenty-five years' association with Mr. Oldfield in business.

Mr. James Forman, president of the board, in thanking Mr. Gardiner for his address, made reference also to the Vancouver Island development that was on foot. The situation that existed on the Island was a shame. It was time that the powers that be should be awakened to conditions. The absence of needed roads was hard to explain. Had these existed, the settlement of the Island would have advanced very materially. It was decided on motion of Mr. A. Carmichael that the attention of the authorities of Victoria and each of the surrounding municipalities should be called to the absence of street signs on many thoroughfares. Strangers had difficulty in finding their way about, it was held.

BRITISH COLUMBIA
GAS CUT UNLIKELY

In the absence so far of instructions from their head offices to reduce the price of gasoline here, local branches of the big oil companies are doubtful if the cut of three cents in California, Washington and Oregon, announced this week, will have any influence in this province.

"Over in Washington they have not had prices reduced since October,"

JAILED FINANCIERS
WELL KNOWN IN B.C.Mr. Aemilius Jarvis Addressed Canadian Club Here on Navy League
Matters Some Years Ago

Mr. Aemilius Jarvis and Mr. M. J. Haney, who are much in the limelight in Ontario at the present time, are both well known in British Columbia. The former, who has just been convicted, with Mr. Peter Smith, late Treasurer of Ontario, on a charge of fraud in connection with a provincial bond scheme, has visited Victoria on several occasions. On one visit he addressed the Canadian Club here on the Navy League, of which he was a member.

The brokerage firm of which Mr. Jarvis until recently was the head, was chiefly instrumental in bringing ticket office for details of special trains connecting with Christmas sailings.

about the amalgamation of a number of salmon canneries in this province which were launched as a company under the title of the British Columbia Packers' Association Limited. In connection with the transfer of the canneries his firm issued a cheque on the head office of the Canadian Bank of Commerce for over a million dollars.

Helped Build C.P.R.

M. J. Haney, whose acceptance of a large sum in cash on relinquishing the presidency of the Home Bank, is to be investigated in connection with the probe into that ill-starred concern, first came to British Columbia at the time of the construction of the C.P.R. in this province. Born and raised on a farm near Ottawa, Mr. Haney became associated with railway construction work, and was engaged by the late Andrew Gendron, the contractor of the C.P.R., as a superintendent of construction. While occupying this position Mr. Haney gained wide notoriety by a piece of rapid tracklaying in the vicinity of Kamloops. Tracklaying machines were, of course, unknown in those days, and the work was of a slow and laborious nature. Hence the news that M. J. Haney had laid seven miles of track in a day created somewhat of a sensation in railway circles, as it constituted a world record at that date.

A button on the steering wheel, with which headlights can be dimmed, is said to lessen the risk of accident.

PRIZE CREW DISPOSES OF CHAMPAGNE CARGOU.S. Coastguard Officer Admits Sale of Seized Wine in Order to Secure Evidence

BOSTON, Oct. 29.—Sale of confiscated wine by a coastguard officer after a recent raid on the rum fleet off Cape Anne, was admitted in a statement today by Lieutenant-Commander Yeandle of the coastguard service. Yeandle said the wine was sold to obtain evidence against the purchasers.

Charges that a prize crew placed by the coastguard cutter Tampa on board the British schooner Marjorie B. Bachman, one of the seized rum-runners, sold one hundred and fifty cases of champagne over her side to bootleggers and robbed the schooner's crew of their money, were made before United States Commissioner Storey last night, when seven men captured in the Tampa's raid on the rum fleet were arraigned.

Yeandle admitted today that two cases of champagne were sold.

The cases of the alleged rum-runners were presented to the federal grand jury today.

Yeandle declared that the rum-running interests, falling in attempts to place spies in the coastguard service, were attacking the character of coastguard officers in order to undermine public confidence in the service.

WES. BARRY SHINES IN AMUSING FILM

George Washington, Jr. Is Screen Version at Columbia of Famous Cohan Play

A new Wesley Barry feature is scheduled at the Columbia Theatre for the balance of the week. It is called "George Washington, Jr." and is adapted from the famous George M. Cohan stage comedy, which made such a tremendous hit in New York City. Wesley plays the title role, the same one that George M. Cohan played on the stage. This is a distinctly new characterization for him; he graduates, as it were, from "kid" roles into the young society man.

"George Washington, Jr." is a rapidly moving comedy-drama of society life in the highest political circles of the capital. Its brilliant cast includes the lavishly dressed women, the polished senators, foreign diplomats and noblemen give enough promise of a highly-spiced, interesting picture. But in addition to all this there is Wesley Barry, the imitable young actor, who never fails to win his way into the heart before the picture fades off the screen.

Wesley Barry is ably supported by a well-known cast that includes Gertrude Olmstead, Edward Phillips, William Courtwright, Leon Barry, Charles Conklin and Otis Harlan. Direction was under Mal St. Clair.

PLAYHOUSE William A. Selter, THEATRE who has directed Doris May in all her recent comedies for R-C Pictures, is a son of Colonel Charles Jacob Selter, of Higgins & Selter, exclusive dealers in china and artware on Fifth Avenue, New York. Young Selter was headed toward an executive post in his father's organization several years ago, but the call of the studio was stronger and off to the West he went! He has achieved high success. Selter's latest effort at direction was in "Up and At 'Em," Doris May's latest production released through the Film Booking Office of America. It will be shown at the Playhouse Theatre all this week.

COLISEUM Henry Otto, director of THEATRE the William Fox production of "Dante's Inferno," now showing at the Coliseum Theatre, cannot be accused of having a one-track mind. No matter what picture he may be working on, he is always alert to pick up old bits of camera stuff for future use. While shooting scenes on a rocky, uninhabited island off California recently, he observed that a large colony of seals had a rookery on a neighboring island. With his cameraman he landed on the island after much danger and difficulty and succeeded in obtaining some of the finest shots of seal and bird life ever made. From the bird material alone Fox Film Corporation made a complete short subject. Three species of shining birds, shags, pelicans and seagulls, are shown in the little film.

CAPITOL During the "shooting" THEATRE of the First National production, "Single Wives," now playing at the Capitol Theatre, the cast had a regular gab-fest, the topic being "Ah, them was the days!" Corinne Griffith recalled the days when she stayed at the Adolphus Hotel in Dallas, Tex.; Milton Sills recalled the classroom of a college and saw himself as a professor of psychology. Kathryn Williams submitted the days of "The Adventures of Kathlyn," the most popular serial of its day, as her contribution to the reminiscing. Lou Tellegen told of the days when he was leading man for Eleanor Duse and Sarah Bernhardt. Then George Archambault, the director of "Single Wives," interrupted the confab with: "And I remember when everyone of you used to do your stuff before the camera." Which not only ended the actors' favorite indoor sport, but sent them before the relentless steel box with the glass eye, which grinds and grinds and grinds.

DOMINION J. Warren Kerrigan, THEATRE who has the role of Captain Blood in Rafael Sabatini's famous novel of the same name, which is now showing at the Dominion Theatre, has lost his beautiful curly locks and joined the Shaved Headed Men's Club. For several years Kerrigan's hair has been admired by the fair sex and it was with regret that he allowed Director David Smith to shave his pate for the production. Kerrigan is a true artist and willing to go to great personal sacrifice for art's sake. In several sequences he even allows his beard to grow and his hair to become unkempt. In others he appears without a visible hair on his head, save his eyebrows, lashes and goatee. During the major portion of the production, however, his head is graced with a curly wig hanging over his shoulders.

NAVAL NIGHT ADDS MUSICAL FEATURE TO DOMINION SHOW

Tonight will be naval night at the Dominion Theatre. The Boys' Naval Band will be the guests of Manager Robertson. Al. Prescott and his orchestra will also play a special musical programme to accompany the big feature attraction, "Captain Blood." Rafael Sabatini's thrilling romance of love and adventure, English nautical music will predominate throughout the entire evening's entertainment.

MOVIE KIDS IN SUNDOWN HOLD SCHOOL ON DESERT

During the filming of "Sundown," the mammoth First National Picture to be shown at the Capitol Theatre next week, a special school teacher was employed to carry on the education of two children in the big company. He was John Heecham, who is the regular public school teacher at Selma Blanca, Texas, and daily used to ride out to the tent city occupied by the movie colony. While not teaching the children, he would go into the scenes as an "extra." Heeche Love, Charles Murray, Roy Stewart and Robert Bosworth held the cast

REVISE SALARIES OF LOWER CIVIL SERVICE

All Wages of Two Hundred Dollars Per Month or Less to Be Reviewed

OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—All civil service salaries of $2,400 and less a year are to undergo revision. Exception is being made, of course, to postal and customs and excise salaries of $2,400 and under, which have been revised during the summer.

The Civil Association of Ottawa, whose members constitute the main body of those affected by the revision, asks for salary increases for all classes, although it is unlikely that their request will be so broadly met.

Authority for this salary revision was given by order-in-council before the postal and customs revision. The reason for the $2,400 limit was said to be the fact that the bonus stopped at the $2,400 mark, and revision was supposed to restore for the bonus, which in turn had originally been designed to offset the high cost of living.

Buffeted by Storm Australia Arrives From the Far East

Empress Ran From Typhoon Outside Hong Kong, Was Forced Up River to Shanghai by Naval Engagement, Was Delayed Twelve Hours at Kobe, and Arrives Here Less Than Day Late

RAW SILK CARGO VALUED AT NEARLY EIGHT MILLIONS

BUFFETED by fierce northeast gales, and plunging her prow into heavy southeast and easterly swells, with waves running mountains high, the Canadian Pacific Empress of Australia docked from the East, last night, nearly twenty-four hours behind her schedule, but not damaged by the fiercest storm that has raged off this Coast in the month of October since 1890.

"We just barely missed a typhoon, which was coming in our direction, just after we left Hong Kong, and were compelled to go up the river to Shanghai owing to a Chinese naval engagement off Wusung. At Shanghai we missed the tide and were delayed considerably. Running into rough weather on the way up to Kobe we were delayed another twelve hours. We were making up the time, however, on the trans-Pacific run when we ran into the storm a week ago. Since then it increased as we approached the coast. There is no doubt but that we should have docked here at 10 o'clock in the morning had it not been for the fierce northeast gales that set us back. The storm veered round to a southeasterly as we approached the coast."

Next Landing Made
Captain Robert, who piloted the Australia, deserves well earned praise for the manner in which he docked the liner at the Outer Wharf in the teeth of a strong southeast gale. It was dark, and steamship agents and customs officials were in doubt as to whether she would dock at the Outer Wharf or spend the night anchored in the Royal Roads. The landing was made neatly. The huge liner slipped alongside the pier and was warped in without any damage being done.

Captain A. J. Hargrave, who was in command of the Australia, stated that he had not experienced such rough weather for this month of the year for a long time. The barometer a week ago read at 30.5, and steadily dropped as we drew near the coast to as low as 28.90."

$8,000,000 of Silk
The liner brought an unusually large cargo of general and one of the largest cargoes of raw silk that has been shipped from Japan this year. It is the first big shipment of the Japanese Fall crop that has ever been sent this far west. There were twenty-nine carloads. This works out to nearly 7,000 bales of silk valued at $8,000,000. Another feature of her cargo is 500 tons of tea loaded at Shimidzu. The through cargo totalled 1,500 tons. The mail consignment discharged here amounted to 913

Edgehill Helpless South of Galveston

GALVESTON, Tex., Oct. 29.—The Shipping Board steamer Edgehill, en route to Galveston, from Baltimore, is without fuel and helpless in the Gulf, 118 miles southeast of Galveston, according to a radio message received here. The Shipping Board steamer West Hika, fifty miles behind the Edgehill, has been notified to proceed to her assistance.

HAWAII MARU DAY BEHIND SCHEDULE

MAKING LAST TRIP ON TRANS-PACIFIC RUN
Bringing Twenty-Three Passengers and Good Cargo—Yokohama Chartered for One Trip

Also on her last trip in the Osaka Kisen Kaisha's trans-Pacific service, the Hawaii Maru left Yokohama for Victoria on October 25. It was learned at Rithet Consolidated yesterday, The Hawaii Maru is expected to arrive here November 7.

The liner was day late in leaving Yokohama, but if weather conditions are favorable it is expected that she will make up this time en route and probably dock here on November 4. After completing the round trip, the Hawaii Maru will be withdrawn from this service and placed on the O.R.K. round-the-world route, calling at South American ports. She will be replaced by the London Maru, which will be out here early next spring. The Hawaii Maru, which left Shanghai on October 27, on her last trip in the trans-Pacific service, will be replaced by the Paris Maru, but owing to the Paris Maru being unable to make the transference on schedule, the Yokohama Maru has been chartered to take one trip in the place of the Paris Maru. After this trip the Paris Maru will take over the run.

Twenty-one passengers are being brought by the Hawaii Maru. Of this number seven are first-class and fourteen steerage. Eleven passengers will be taken here for Victoria. The cargo consists of 100 tons of mail, eight of which are for the aircraft. For Vancouver there are 100 tons and an amount of cargo of fifty tons, which will be discharged either at Vancouver or Seattle.

It was stated in an evening paper that no definite word had been received regarding the placing of the London and Paris Marus on the trans-Pacific route; but the O.R.K. manager at Tacoma confirms this report by making a definite announcement, the same as was published in The Colonist yesterday morning.

APPLE WEEK IS TO BE PROCLAIMED

WILL CELEBRATE THIRTY MILLION BUSHEL CROP

Great Northern Railway Will Help in Advertising the Pacific Northwest's Bountiful Crop

King Apple, who is this year contributing tremendously to the prosperity of the Pacific Northwest, will, during the week of October 31 to November 6, inclusive, celebrate his thirty million bushel crop of 1924, and emphasize his hope that Northwest folk will eat more apples.

The movement to spread news of the business and healthfulness of Pacific Northwest apples will be aided this year, as in the past, by the Great Northern Railway, which will use every means at its command to tell the story of the big red apples.

Great Northern dining-car superintendents and chefs have planned tempting apple dishes and menus for the Northwest Orient Limited dining-cars between this section and Chicago, as well as on other trains, and no passenger will fail to know Washington apples. Likewise in all depots of the system special apple dishes will be featured. In addition, apple displays will be installed in Great Northern city ticket offices of metropolitan centres from the Coast to the Middle West.

Announcement was made yesterday that the first Holiday Gift Car of Western apples will leave for Eastern cities on November 2 from the Great Northern.

TWO FREIGHTERS DUE HERE SOON

BOTH ARE FROM ORIENT WITH GOOD CARGOES

Philippines Due November 2—Toyama Maru Expected November 6—Electrician Due Soon

Two trans-Pacific freighters are due here soon. Rithet Consolidated reported the Hui Funnel liner Philippines due on November 2 from the Orient, while Mr. A. H. Hebb, of the Great Northern Railway office, announces the Toyama Maru will make port from the Far East on November 6.

The Philippines left Yokohama on October 23, and has a cargo of fifty tons for discharge here. In addition she is carrying 150 Chinese stevedores passengers will be taken at this point en route to Central American states. After unloading on Puget Sound the Philippines will commence loading a big lumber consignment for Japan, and will sail from Victoria on November 27.

The Toyama Maru is reported to have sailed from Yokohama on October 23, and has for discharge here some fifty tons of cargo. It is understood that this liner is also bringing a small passenger list. She is due here November 6.

Both the Toyama and the Philippines are bringing large silk cargoes, the total value of which is estimated at $6,000,000. The Fall silk crop is moving from Japan now, and big shipments are expected through on the inter-line.

Rithet Consolidated also expects the Harrison Direct Line Electrician from the Old Country soon. She was scheduled to leave London on October 11. This should bring her to Victoria about the second week in November. The liner will call at Los Angeles and San Francisco en route. There is a big shipment of Christmas toys on board, and also a Christmas supply of liquor for the Liquor Control Board.

Owner of Yacht Elsie And Crew Reach Seattle

SEATTLE, Oct. 29.—Captain P. L. Craigie, owner and master of the $10,000 yacht Elsie, which was destroyed by an explosion off Bush Point, in Admiralty Inlet, last night, a cousin who was his guest, and a crew of two men escaped from the vessel and made their way by automobile to Seattle.

Vessel Wrecked North of Eureka

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 29.—The motorship Shark, sixty-four tons, operated by the Bay City Steamship Co., of San Francisco, was wrecked on the rocks near Crescent City, Cal., seventy miles north of Eureka, today, and no word has been received as to the safety of the captain and crew of eight, according to advice received here tonight.

Mill Bay Ferry Is Still Maintained

To correct a misunderstanding regarding the Mill Bay ferry service, which is maintained by the ferryboat Cascade, the Cascade Freight & Towing Company stated that despite the strong southeasterly gales that have been blowing, the service is still being maintained and that there is no roll in the ship's ferrying across the bay which would inconvenience passengers or motorists desiring to use this short cut on the Malahat Drive.

HIGHLANDER IS RETURNING HERE

Has Capacity Cargo of Christmas Supplies—Canadian Spinner En Route Home From Orient

With the big consignment of liquor that had to be left behind by the Canadian Highlander on her last trip from the United Kingdom, owing to the shipment not being ready, the C. G. M. freighter Canadian Highlander has left Glasgow for Victoria. The Highlander left Glasgow on October 23 and is scheduled to arrive here on November 30. Not only will she have a large liquor cargo for discharge here, but she will also have a big shipment of Christmas supplies and toys besides New Year goods.

In the same service the Canadian Highlander is reported to have arrived at Cardiff. From there she will shift to Glasgow, where she will load for the return trip to Victoria.

The Canadian Highlander left the Panama Canal on October 25 for Quebec and Montreal in the intercoastal service, while the Canadian Miller is making her first trip to this coast in that service. She left Halifax for Victoria on October 25 and will join the Pacific unit of the C.G.M.M. fleet on her arrival here.

In the intercoastal-Orient service the Canadian Spinner is reported to have left Yokohama via Muroran. She is expected to arrive here about December 2, while the Canadian Inventor has left Sydney, Australia, for Victoria. Her departure from that port was on October 22.

An atom is 2,000 times too small to be seen through a microscope.
